Areas of Interest / Specialization

Research Interest:

My research interests lie in the study of tribal communities, their literature, history, and socio-political movements, with a special focus on the Santhal Rebellion and other tribal uprisings. I aim to explore the evolving discourse of Adivasi identity, resistance, and representation in Hindi literature. Alongside this, I am equally engaged with Dalit literary discourse, which powerfully voices the struggles and aspirations of marginalized communities. My interest further extends to contemporary Hindi fiction and the role of social media in shaping literary expression and public discourse. Through my research, I seek to critically examine the intersections of literature, society, and digital platforms, and contribute to the broader understanding of subaltern narratives within modern Hindi literary studies.

Papers Taught

Hindi Nibandh, Hindi Kahani, Asmitamoolak Vimarsh, Adhunik Kavita, Social Media etc.
